

Writing task 24.03

Today I would like you to use your learning from yesterday to cut and create your own sunflower. Once you have created it can you label it from memory? Use your sounds to help you label it. You could use these cut out images or go into your garden and find your own flower to label.

